THIRD DISTRICT.

A Republican Convention of the Third Assembly District, Rock County, is hereby called to meet at the Court House, in the city of Janesville, on Monday, August 14th, at 2 o'clock p. m., to choose two delegates to represent the district in the Congressional convention that meets in the village of Geneva, August 10th, to nominate a candidate for Congress. Dated July 25th, 1882.

JAS. HADDEN, Jr.,
Committee.

General Ed. B. Bryant will not stand for a nomination for Congress, in the Third district, and it is said this will give Mr. Keyes the Dane county delegation solid.

Mr. Speaker Keifer's forces seem to have been all right. He was renominated without opposition at Springfield, Ohio, on Wednesday. The soldier element in his district was strongly in his favor.

The House of R. representatives is bound to carry out its scheme to squander money on some of the insignificant and worthless streams in the South, and passed the River and Harbor bill over the President's veto. The House had courage, and did his duty. The House had bluff, but no regard for its duty. The country will applaud the President but will have no word of cheer for the members who voted first and last for squandering the public money on useless creeks.

The Gazette has received from United States Senator Frye, of Maine, some samples of tissue balloons which were used by the Democrats in South Carolina at the presidential and congressional election in 1880. They are interesting specimens of Democratic frauds, and show how a corrupt ballot box and a prostituted ballot were maintained by the Democratic party in the South. The fraud was one of the boldest that dishonesty could devise and debased mankind could carry out, and yet it received the sanction of all the Democrats in Congress.

The Milwaukee Republican-Sentinel prints the words of a prominent politician in regard to the outlook in the various Congressional districts. He has made a tour of the State and feels competent to speak with authority. He says:

"I knew Pico would get the nomination in the Eighth District. Judge Humphrey and Hans B. Warner may be candidates, but they'll have no chance with Price. In the Ninth District, Pound, the present Congressman, will be nominated, although Isaac Stevenson is close upon him. C. M. Webb and E. L. Evans have no prospects whatever. Williams of the First District, is now ahead, probably, but Mr. Erskine's chances are good. T. D. Weeks and L. B. Caswell are also striving, but have received little encouragement. Delaney will get the nomination in the Second District in spite of Brazz, and George W. Hazelton will carry the Republican Third. Following him are E. W. Keyes, George V. Ryland, Senator Van Sledright, P. V. Deuster, a Democrat and August Koeliker, a Trades Assenblyman. Senator Huld, of Green Bay, will carry the Eighth District, which is Democratic clear through. Richard Gauthier stands alone in the Republican Sixth and need not fear opposition. In the Seventh there are numerous candidates, but O. B. Thomas and C. C. Hixon lead in the race. Judges Britt and Graham and D. B. Welch are already distanced, and I believe Hixon will win unless the opposition unite on Thomas."

The Hon. William T. Price has been nominated for Congress by the Republicans of the Eighth district who held their convention at Eau Claire on Wednesday. It had been a foregone conclusion for some time that Mr. Price would be nominated, and his success is one of the strangest things of the time. He has been long for a seat in Congress for several years, but he was considered an impossible candidate. He is a man of many peculiarities, has some warm friends and it was supposed a host of bitter ene-

KEIFER RENOMINATED.

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio, Aug. 2.—The Republican Congressional Convention of Speaker Keifer's district, met in the city this morning. George M. Eichelberger, of Champaign county, was made temporary chairman, and in a brief speech addressed the convention, commending the courage of General Keifer, and paying a pleasant tribute to General Kennedy, his opponent. After the appointment of committees the convention adjourned until 1:30. Upon reassembling the name of General J. Warren Keifer was presented to the convention by George Wilson, of Madison county. General Robert P. Kennedy's name was presented to the convention, and General Kennedy in response withdrew his name, endorsing the nomination of General Keifer, and moving his nomination be made unanimous. The motion was carried without dissent amid enthusiasm.

LYNCHING.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Aug. 2.—A Courier-Journal special from Glasgow, Ky., says Bishop Emberton and Richard Spelman, of Monroe county, charged with an unspeakable crime against Mrs. J. B. Garrett, of Tompkinsville, on Tuesday of last week, while being brought here for safe-keeping, were shot to death yesterday thirteen miles from here.

WISCONSIN POSTMASTERS.

Adjustment of Their Salaries for the Ensuing Fiscal Year.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2.—Wisconsin postmasters will be glad to learn that the adjustment of their salaries for the coming year has been completed by the Postoffice Department. The law requires the performance of this duty by the Postmaster-General at the beginning of every second fiscal year. The last general adjustment was made in 1880. Nothing so completely evidencing a gigantic machine than the number of its offices. Throughout the country, from leading cities down to country stores, there are postoffices to the number of 45,150. Of these the presidential offices number 2025. A presidential office is one that receives a salary of $1,000 or more, when the postmaster is appointed by the President and confirmed by the Senate. This is the class of offices which have recently been under consideration. They are three grades or classes. The first receive a salary of $8,000 or over; the second $2,000 or $3,000; and the third from $1,000 to $2,000. A fourth class also exists, by far the most numerous, which takes in all offices of less than $1,000. At the present time Wisconsin contains 1395 post-offices of all classes. This is an increase of thirty since the beginning of the year. The presidential offices number seventy. The only office of the first class in the State is at Milwaukee. Entrance the salary attached to this office has been $3,000, but under the new adjustment an increase of $300 is allowed, making the new salary $3,300. The heaviest single increase is in the case of Milwaukee, Beloit, Racine, Burlington and Stoughton, all advancing $300 a year. Those that go up $200 are Columbia, Eau Claire, Jefferson, Lancaster, Neshanic, New London, Oshkosh, Port Washington, Ripon, Waubesa, Wausau, Wisconsin Rapids and Wausau. Numerous others go up $100. There has not been found occasion to reduce the salary of a single office in the State, which is an exception to the general rule. With the past few days the following have been made presidential offices: Elkhorra $1100; Merritt, $1200 and North La Crosse. The following will be the new salaries attached to the Wisconsin postoffices for the coming two years:

THE NEW SALARY.

CONCERT SALOONS.

E. W. KEYES' CHANCES.

MADISON, Aug. 2.—Gen. Ed. Bryant, of Madison, who has been strongly supported by his friends in this, the Third Congressional District, as a candidate for nomination, this evening authoritatively announces his withdrawal from the contest. This is thought here, will render Dane County solid for E. W. Keyes, giving him fourteen delegates in the convention out of forty-two. The friends of Mr. Keyes think that he can obtain six delegates from Green County and the other two necessary for a nomination, easily enough from the remaining counties. This makes the prospect for the brightest they have yet seen, if not rendering his nomination certain.

The Moorish Rule in Spain.

On the north of Africa settled the lurid form of the Arabian crescent, one horn reaching to the Bosphorus and one pointing to the Pyrenees. Scarcely had the Arabs become firmly settled in Spain before they commenced a brilliant career. Cordova, under their administration, at its highest point of prosperity, boasted more than 200,000 houses, and more than 1,000,000 of inhabitants. After sunset, a man might walk through it in a straight line for ten miles by the light of the public lamps. Seven hundred years after this time there was not so much as one public lamp in London. Its streets were solidly paved. In Paris, centuries subsequently, whoever stopped over his threshold on a rainy day stepped up to his ankles in mud. The Spanish Mohammedans had brought with them all the luxuries and prodigalities of Asia. Their residences stood forth against the clear blue sky, or were embosomed in woods. They had polished marble balconies; overhanging orange gardens; courts with cascades of water, shady retreats provocative of slumber in the heat of the day; retiring rooms, vaulted with stained glass, speckled with gold, over which streams of water were made to gush. The floors and walls were of exquisite mosaic. Here, a fountain of quicksilver shot up in a glistening spray, the glittering particles falling with a liquid sound like fair bells. The apartments into which cool air was drawn from flower gardens, in summer by means of ventilating towers, and in the winter through earthen pipes, or caleducts, imbedded in the walls—the hypocrite, in the vaults below, breathing forth volumes of warm and perfumed air through these hidden passages. The walls were not covered with raincoat, but adorned with arabesques, and paintings of agricultural scenes and views of paradise. From the ceilings, corridors, with fretted gold, great fans of feathers, one of which, it is said, contained 1,084 lamps. Clusters of frail marble columns surprised the beholder with the vast weights they bore. In the bowdrie of the saloons they were sometimes of verd antique, and increased with lapis lazuli. The furniture was of sandal and citron wood, inlaid with mother of pearl, ivory, silver, or relieved with gold and precious malachite. In orderly confusion were arranged vases of rock crystal, Chinese porcelains, and tables of exquisite mahogany. The winter apartments were hung with rich tapestry; the floors were covered with embroidered Persian carpets. Pillows and cushions, of elegant forms, were scattered about the rooms, which were perfumed with frankincense. There were whispering galleries for the amusement of the women; labyrinthine and marble play courts for the children; for the master himself, grand libraries. The Khalif Alhaken's was so large that the catalogue alone filled forty volumes. He had also apartments for the exercising, dancing, and ornamenting of boys. Across the Persean, literary, philosophical, and adventures were perpetually passing, and thus the luxury, the taste, and above all, the divisions gallantry and elegant courtesies of Moorish society found their way from Granada and Cordova to Provence and Languedoc. The refined society of Cordova prided itself on its politeness. A gay contest also spread from the beautiful Moorish mistress to their sisters beyond the Pyrenees. The South of France was the full of the witcheries of female fascinations, and of dancing to the flute and mandolin. Even in Italy and Sicily the love-song became the favorite composition; and out of these genial but not orthodox beginnings the polite literature of modern Europe arose.—Draper's "Intellectual Development."

ESCAPED ELEPHANTS.

TROY, N. Y., Aug. 2.—Four elephants belonging to a circus escaped to-night. Patrick Ryan and wife were knocked down, and the former probably fatally injured. Mrs. Ryan was slightly injured. Several other persons were injured. One elephant entered the rolling mill of the iron works and cleared out the mill. He knocked over the bloom, containing red hot iron, but finding it too hot, left the works and made for the river. Three of the elephants were secured, but at midnight the most furious one was still at large.

TIED CONGRESSMEN.

WASHINGTON, August 2.—The Senators entertain the opinion generally that Congress will adjourn Monday. Leading members of the House, however, contend that they will conclude their labors by Saturday of this week and go home. It is a long time since Congress was so tired as it is now. Eight months constant strain, incident to the struggle and excitement of an active session, is beginning to tell, and relaxation and a change of scene will be more refreshing. There is plenty to do, with over 1,300 bills on the various House calendars, but there is nothing that is imperative, except the final adjustment of conference reports on the appropriation bills. There is a disposition to come to terms quickly on this matter, chief of which in point of difficulty is the naval bill, upon which the conferees have not met yet.

SHERIDAN AND PARTY.

GAMBLING IN GRAIN.

LA CROSSE, Wis., Aug. 2.—Judge Cameron, in Probate Court, rejected the claim of the Smith & Lightner grain works, of Chicago, against the estate of John Service. The claim was founded upon a promissory note for $5,000, given in 1870, to secure the claimant against loss in a grain deal. The court held that the claim was invalid, arising out of the gambling transactions in grain, and that there was, therefore, no legal consideration.

THE THIRD DISTRICT.

MADISON, Wis., Aug. 2.—The State Journal this evening authoritatively announces the withdrawal of Gen. Edward E. Bryant as a candidate for the Republican nomination for Congress in this (the Third) district. This leaves Dane County solid for E. W. Keyes. There are 42 votes in the convention, of which 22 are necessary for a choice. Dane County has 15 of these, and requires but 8 more, of which can doubtless be obtained for Keyes in Green County alone, to control the nomination. While his friends think he can easily cut into Hazelton in one of the other three counties, it certainly looks as though Keyes was the coming man. The nomination of Price in the Eight Congressional District this afternoon, and the complete annihilation of Hans B. Warner, is regarded by politicians here as the positive political shelling of the latter for some time to come.
